You would think a company that produces lubricants for some of the most hostile working environments in the world might well be in a good position to manufacture a lubricant for use on bicycle chains, and you'd be right. This stuff is wonderful, simple as that. A single drop to each roller of a freshly cleaned chain, and the result is a satisfyingly smooth and silent drive-train, which stays smooth and silent. You need very little of this lube on your chain, and it will stay in place, doing a great job for 300 miles easily. It's not sticky, doesn't attract dust, repels water, doesn't get pushed out or broken down by salts (winter road grit and rider sweat), and gives your chain a silky smooth feeling. We've just found what is quite probably the best chain lubricant we've ever used.
